Added Fire Prevention Plan Aired

Huge Sprinkler System In The Foothills Suggested By The City Council

Possibility of a series of giant "sprinklers" located at strategic points across the entire foothill region back of Sierra Madre, as a precaution against future forest fires, loomed yesterday, following an invitation by city council Wednesday night to Angeles Forest authorities to investigate the matter.

The proposition was brought up by Councilman Thomas Miller and the city business manager who previously had conferred with the safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Angeles Forest officials will be asked to inspect the old pipe line leading down through Little Santa Anita Canyon from the Quarter Way House, with a view of utilizing the pipe line to fill reservoirs which would be installed along the lower foothills. Water from the reservoirs would be piped through a comprehensive sprinkling system, designed to cover the mountainside area like a gigantic fishnet. Its value in time of fire would be incalculable.

The "sprinkler system" of fighting forest fires has long been a pet idea of many forest officials and outdoor enthusiasts.

Man 53 Has Only 14 Birthdays; None This Year

William F. Corbett, 42 Victoria Lane, celebrated his 14th birthday last year. Next Monday he will be 53 years old.

No, gentle reader; this isn't a brain teaser. It's what happens when a man's birthday falls on February 29.

Mr. Corbett is becoming reconciled to the idea of having a birthday only once every four years. It was something of a problem in his youth, what with the other kids joshing him about it and demanding to know how you can expect birthday presents when your birthday isn't on the calendar.

Born in Detroit, Mich., and for years a "bushelman," as they used to call journeymen tailors, Mr. Corbett is looking forward to quite a few more birthdays. His father, he points out, attained the ripe old age of 96.

H. T. Bassett Dies From Heart Attack

Suffering from a heart attack shortly after taking a tablet for throat trouble, Hadden T. Bassett, 555 West Highland avenue, died in a store at 49 West Sierra Madre Blvd., Friday afternoon.

G. K. Bretherton, 618 West Highland avenue, told police he was in the store talking with Bassett for about 45 minutes when the latter complained of throat trouble, went out to a drug store and returned with a bottle of tablets, one of which he took. A few minutes later, Bretherton said, Bassett appeared to collapse.

Mr. Bretherton was in the rear of the store getting Bassett a glass of water when Police Chief McMillan, who was passing by and noticed Bassett sitting in a chair with his head thrown back and his mouth open, entered. The Chief immediately called Dr. M. H. A. Peterson, who pronounced Bassett dead. The body was removed to Grant's Chapel.

Born in Plainfield, N.J., in 1869, Mr. Bassett had lived here for 25 years. At one time he and his wife ran a sanatorium, now the Happy Family Hotel, on North Lima street. He was an active member of the local Townsden Club, of which his wife was first president, and a member of the local Masonic Lodge.

Newcomer To City Will Address Bethany Women

Next Tuesday morning, at 10:30 o'clock, the Women's Missionary Society of Bethany church will hold its regular all day meeting in the church. Mrs. A. L. Dennis, a faculty member of the Bible seminary for women in Shanghai, China, as well as a member of the Los Angeles Bible Institute, will be the morning speaker.

Another interesting speaker will be Dr. J. Andrew Hall, W. Grand View avenue, a newcomer to Sierra Madre, who has recently completed nearly a 40 year service as medical missionary in the Philippines. Dr. Hall will be the principal afternoon speaker. Miss Nina Gemmel of Shanghai, China, will lead the devotions. The luncheon to be served at noon is in charge of Mrs. James Dalley and her committee.

Flood Relief Fund Here Exceeds Quota By Nearly $500

Funds collected by the Sierra Madre chapter of the American Red Cross for relief of flood victims in the Ohio and Mississippi River valleys now total $1664.80. The quota assigned the city was $1200.

One hundred per cent of all money donated goes direct to the flood area for relief, Red Cross officials emphasized.

Following is the list of additional contributions up to Wednesday noon:

Sierra Madre Post, American Legion, $6; Sierra Madre Temple Beth Israel, $5; Central Meat Market, $5; Mrs. T. T. Lynch, $2; Sierra Madre Troop No. 1, Girl Scouts, $1.70.

The donation of the Southern Counties Gas Co., was $10 instead of $1, as previously listed.

Trimming Of Trees To Be Supervised

Council Votes Regulatory Authority To The Planning Commission

Direct supervision of all city parkway trimming by Miss Thomasella Graham, chairman of the tree committee of city planning commission, was agreed to by city council Wednesday night. Miss Graham will be informed whenever the city contemplates trimming parkway trees and she will personally confer with the form of the job as to the manner in which the work is to be done.

In a letter to council discussing the general problem of tree trimming, the commission announced the appointment of a streets and sidewalks committee, headed by Perley Poore Sheehan as chairman. The committee will take cognizance of undesirable and dangerous conditions of sidewalks and report them to city authorities.

Referring to tree trimming, the commission stated that inasmuch as it is supposed to have advisory supervision over the work, it believed it should have some jurisdiction over what is actually being done. Declaring it had been blamed by property owners for some of the methods employed, the commission said it seemed only fair it should have the privilege of saying how the work should be done.

The commission stated it realized the city cannot engage tree surgeons because of the expense involved and felt fortunate in having so competent a member as Miss Graham who is willing to assume the task of supervising the work.

Water Levels Rise As Tho' 'Hopped'

Unusual Rains And Efficacy Of Spreading Grounds Credited For Big Supply

A 7-foot rise in city well No. 1 in 24 hours and an 11-foot rise in four days—a record never before equalled in the city's history—was revealed yesterday by city water department officials.

The water level in well No. 1 was down to 163 feet Saturday. On Wednesday morning the reading was 152 feet, a rise of 11 feet in only four days. The 7-foot rise occurred from Monday to Tuesday.

Joe Hogan, plant engineer couldn't believe it until he'd measured the water level seven times Tuesday morning!

Officials hailed the figures as black and white testimony of the efficacy of the city's spreading grounds.

The city's water level has raised more than 20 feet since the first of the month. For the same period Arcadia's level was up not quite five feet.

"This knocks out the idea Arcadia gets all the water at our expense," Sierra Madre officials declared.

They estimated a total of 200 acre feet, representing 70 million gallons, had percolated into the ground from the spreading basins during the last three weeks. Water levels here are now back to 1927 figures, they pointed out. On February 24, 1927, the water level stood at 155 feet. Wednesday of this week it was 152 feet.

The water level yesterday was 146 feet 10 inches.

While rejoicing over the latter figure, officials look to an even rosier one next fall when wells will more accurately register underground seepage from the winter rains which by yesterday morning had sent rain gauge levels here up to 26.16 inches.

For the first time in 10 years a stream is running in Bailey Canyon, it was pointed out. The water is all "to the good," as it is percolating into the ground before it gets to Lima street.

The first three basins at the spreading grounds are still full, promising still higher water levels.

Charges Pile Up On Tough Bandit Gang

A total of 22 felony charges, 11 punishable by death, await the two "slugger bandits" when they go on trial in Superior Court.

Such was the prospect dangling before the eyes of Daniel Forsythe and Charles A. Trotter, following their preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. Russell Morton in Pasadena last week.

Among the witnesses identifying the two men was Ronald Pulling, 382 West Montecito avenue. Pulling was slugged by one of the men in a service station at 505 South Sierra Madre avenue January 28.

Thieves Steal $200 Worth Of Machinery

Theft of around $200 worth of tools from a shed on her property at 472 East Sierra Madre boulevard Tuesday was reported to police by Mrs. Elizabeth H. Pyle, 851 South Oakland avenue, Pasadena.

A SERIOUS SITUATION

THIS IS the text of a resolution presented to Monday night's Town Meeting called to protest against the proposal before Congress to place the President in control of the Supreme Court, upstaging the Constitutional provision that there shall be three separate and independent branches of the government—executive, legislative and judicial. The resolution was offered by Edward W. Camp, distinguished member of the American Bar Association, and unanimously adopted as follows:

Believing that the bill before Congress to alter the number of judges on the Federal Supreme Court has been proposed hastily, that a period of high political tension is not a proper time to alter the principles of government, that its provisions threaten the Constitutional balance between the judicial, legislative and executive departments, and is a definite step in the direction of autocratic control of our courts, we hereby

RESOLVE, That any alteration in our constitutional methods should be settled by constitutional means;

That a change of such high importance should not be adopted by Congress until it has been made an issue at a general election;

That the seriousness of the situation requires that the people have ample time to consider the question from all angles;

That we heartily commend the stand of Senator Hiram W. Johnson in opposing such a change;

That we request our Senator, William Gibbs McAdoo, to oppose passage of any measure making such a change at the present Congress;

That we approve the purpose expressed by our Representative, John Steven McGroarty, to oppose the making of such a change at this time;

That we send a copy of these resolutions to the Speaker of the Assembly with the request they be printed in the Journal, and a copy to the Lieut. Governor, requesting that it be called to the attention of the Senate.

Lady Of The Lake Is Warmly Praised By City Council

With its books balanced and bills all paid, the Wistaria Town Float Committee wound up its affairs with a report to the City Council Wednesday night and was discharged with a vote of thanks from that body on behalf of the townsfolk.

A resolution presented by Councilman John Froehlich expressed appreciation of the efforts of L. R. Goshorn, chairman of the committee; Alfred J. Dewey who designed "The Lady of the Lake," members of the committee and the "citizens who so generously contributed to success of the project through financial aid and the contribution of flowers and their services in the task of decoration." Mayor Reavis and Councilman Schwartz were warm in their praise of the city's entry in the Rose Tournament, expressing the hope that the city will continue to be represented in this great annual event.

Previously unreported cash donations from Mrs. Carl Graf and the Parent-Teacher Association were announced.

'Moth Eaten Gag' Riddled At The Forum

Women Join In Discussion Of President's Effort To Dominate Supreme Court

The idea that the United States Supreme Court usurped the power to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional is a "motheaten gag," Judge Edgar W. Camp told Tuesday night's meeting of the Sierra Madre Forum.

"The Court's jurisdiction is confirmed by the Constitution," the judge said.

He quoted Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution, which says "The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court . . . and Article III, Section 2, which says "the judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this Constitution, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority . . ."

He also drew attention to Article VI, Section 2, which states that "this Constitution and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof . . . shall be the supreme law of the land . . ."

Outlining Supreme Court procedure, he declared the discussion on all cases is "free and considered" and that all applications are considered by each of the justices.

Pointing out the "inadvisability" of a 15-man court, he said one of the justices once wrote a friend saying "we are getting on slowly; if we had two more men we wouldn't be able to get any work done at all."

Rev. A. O. Pritchard declared "it has been clearly brought out that the Supreme Court is the most efficient court in the country" and suggested that "if it is necessary to make a change, at least let's do it constitutionally."

Charging that the justices were "not up-to-date," John C. Packard said he believed the Court "should interpret the Constitution in light of the modern needs of people."

Comparing the executive to a whiffle-tree, with the judiciary representing one horse and the legislative branch the other, he said the "judicial horse" was lagging behind the "legislative horse."

He said he believed the Federal power "must be extended," but added this "must come through a constitutional amendment." He said he didn't think the President proposed to change our present system of checks and balances.

"I'm against any attempt to pack the Supreme Court," Leland J. Fogg declared. He said the one "good thing" about the present controversy is that "it has started people talking politics again."

Postmaster R. O. Caukin expressed the opinion the judiciary must "keep pace" with the legislative and executive branches of the government.

Ralph Cheyney declared "it is a question of packing the Court or sending it packing." He charged the justices were "a gang of tin Hitlers fulfilling the wishes of its masters, the corporations."

Russell Tyree suggested the Court be elected by the people and be subject to recall by them. Mrs. Rose Snell and Mrs. Edith Bowen, respectively, spoke for and against the President's court program.

A petition addressed to Representative John Steven McGroarty and endorsing Mr. Roosevelt's proposals was made available at the conclusion of the meeting.

SCHEME TO PACK THE SUPREME COURT IS ROUNDLY DENOUNCED

Founding Of Local PTA Is Celebrated

Past Presidents And Early Members Honored At Anniversary Meeting

While Parent-Teacher leaders are everywhere vehemently discussing child marriages and attending or preparing to, conventions in the South and the National Recreational Association luncheon in Fresno on the 17th of March, local P.T.A. founders and members are congratulating themselves that their commemoration of the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Parent-Teacher Association was so graciously consummated on Thursday last.

Past-presidents came from far and near to become an integral part of the gala celebration and to re-live memorable moments that were lived some time during their former administrations.

The columned corridors of the picturesque Spanish-type school echoed to the feet of some who had only crossed the threshold of a simple rural schoolhouse back in those days before the signs of the times indicated such changes as progressive education, visual libraries, units of work and so forth.

Revolutionary changes have indeed taken place in the curricula of today, and many of the ex-P.T.A. presidents must have had this through in mind as Mrs. Gladys Albright, the president of this year, unfolded Thursday's delightful program in her capable manner, introducing the artists and leaders in place of Mrs. Lee Shippey, who, unfortunately, could not be present.

The artists appearing were Mrs. Randolph Wood, Miss Moreland Kortkamp and Miss Lalla Fagge, who together confirmed the fact that Sierra Madre can always produce her own galaxy of accomplished performers.

P.T.A. workers of long standing and those mothers lately introduced into this great endeavor were given a review of a few glistening highlights in the sturdy life of the movement in Sierra Madre by Miss Elizabeth Steinberger who said, "What profits you members of the Parent-Teachers Association are reaping today is due to the splendid building the old leaders have done before you."

Miss Florence Lusted read "The Philosophy of the Parent-Teacher Movement," by Mary England, which embraced many fine points including: "The core of the movement is the education of a child is something that goes on 24 hours in a day and not just instruction received at school."

Other articles were read by Mrs. Roach, Mrs. Irish, Mrs. Roese, Mrs. Elmer Pulling, Mrs. Warren Preston and Mrs. Albright. Corsages and words of welcome were then tendered the past presidents, who answered to the following names: Mrs. W. E. Walker, the first president of the P.T.A. in Sierra Madre, which was in 1915; Mrs. Tom Henderson, Mrs. Edward Schneberger, Mrs. J. F. Sadler, Mrs. Elmer Pulling, Mrs. Warren Preston, Mrs. Allison Miller, Mrs. O. Roese, and Mrs. Boyd Keith.

Former officials who rose for bows, included: Mmes. Udell, Lees, Gray and Caskey.

An impressive candlelight ceremony followed which served to honor Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and Mrs. McBirney, the original founders of the Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. Edward Schneberger, Warren Preston, Elmer Pulling, Boyd Keith and Tom Henderson officiating.

It fell to Mrs. Roese to do the honors with the elaborately decorated gold and white cake, while Mrs. Sadler and Mrs. Walker poured.

Dickens Fellowship Meeting Reunites Many Old Friends

Commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Dickens Fellowship, a branch of the Dickens Fellowship of London, England, members met at the home of Mrs. N. W. Tarr, 274 W. Montecito avenue, Wednesday afternoon March 17, for a one o'clock luncheon and an informal afternoon of reading and visiting. Mrs. Tarr acting as hostess.

Charter members and out-of-town members present were, Mrs. C. H. Baker and Mrs. C. C. Montgomery of San Marino; Mrs. Harriet Wright, of Pasadena; Mrs. Burton Andrews, of Alhambra; Mrs. Martha Rust and Miss Thomasella H. Graham of Sierra Madre, and Mrs. W. J. Saunders of Los Angeles.

Big Town Meeting Of Citizens Adopts Resolution Voicing Vigorous Protest

Meeting on the 205th anniversary of the birthday of America's first president, grimly determined Sierra Madreans Monday night hurled a ringing challenge against the proposal before Congress for sweeping revisions in the Federal court system, including a proposal for radically changing the method of appointing Supreme Court justices.

Rallying to Chairman Rev. A. O. Pritchard's plea to "show your representatives in Washington and Sacramento you mean business," the meeting, which jammed city hall auditorium to the doors, signed protest petitions to be sent to the California senators and representatives at Washington, D. C., and adopted a resolution urging state senators and assemblymen to memorialize Congress "against the enactment of such a measure."

Speakers included State Assemblyman Frank G. Martin, Judge Edgar W. Camp, Rev. A. O. Pritchard, Mrs. C. A. Allen, Col. H. B. Hersey, F. D. R. Moore and Mrs. W. J. Barlow.

Declaring "we owe it to ourselves and others to make plain the grounds of this protest," Rev. Mr. Pritchard outlined four main objections to the President's proposal to make the nation's highest tribunal subservient to the executive arm of the government.

"We protest this bill," he said, "because it was drawn in haste and presented at a time when the entire nation is deeply stirred by the fundamental question of the relation of the central government to the states; because it is yet another attack in the age-long fight to preserve the safeguards of liberty; because the Supreme Court has ever been the bulwark of personal liberty in this nation, and because the scheme might well be used for wrong ends by evil minded officials in years to come."

Pointing out President Roosevelt presented the bill to Congress just three months after his election and less than one month after his inauguration, Mr. Pritchard said Mr. Roosevelt's close advisors as well as chairmen of responsible committees all disclaimed any knowledge of the bill until it was presented.

"The situation was wholly unfavorable to the presentation of a bill so far reaching in its results," he declared.

Turning to the question of states' rights, he said the subject is "not a legislative question or an executive question; it is a question of principle, and according to our democratic constitutional system must be decided by the people."

Illustrating the bill's inherent dangers, he said: "Suppose a great religious struggle should break out in this country as it has in Germany. The President and Congress might conceivably decide that the word 'religion' in the Constitution inasmuch as that is the prevailing religion. Then, by increasing the number of judges sufficiently and by using this interpretation, all non-Christians would automatically and ruthlessly be deprived of their religious rights."

He concluded by suggesting that "if the President is sincere in his claim that the Supreme Court needs new blood in order to relieve the pressure of work, let him propose an amendment to the Constitution that a judge may retire at 70 with full pay and must retire at 75 with the same pension."

Pointing out it is necessary for all judges of the Supreme Court to act on every case, Judge Edgar W. Camp said 15 judges in one court "will do less work and decide fewer cases than nine men." The Court rarely takes a case after the papers have been filed, he said, as against the two years usually required by the state court. He asserted the Supreme Court is probably more up to date in its work than any appellate court in the nation.

"There is nothing to show, and there is no prevailing opinion among lawyers, that the United States Supreme Court is falling down on its job or is refusing to hear and decide cases which it is of importance to the country that the Court should decide," he stated.

Mr. Camp declared that "on the whole it would be better if no man was appointed to the Supreme Court over the age of 60, and that no man be allowed to sit on the supreme bench over the age of 75."

Summing up the subject, he was warmly applauded when he declared that "man may hasten, but nations facing eternity should go slow."

Decrying the attempt to make a "political football" out of the Supreme Court, Col. H. B. Hersey said "no man is more dangerous than one who 'knows' he's right." He cited Italy and Germany in answer to the question, "can we

THE PROGRAM

The proposal to upset the Constitution and make the Nation's highest tribunal a political adjunct of the executive department is exactly in line with what is happening in Pennsylvania, where the Democratic party has come into complete control of every department of the government for the first time in 90 years. It is running as wild as a bull in a china shop. The legislative machinery is clogged with a series of "ripper" bills designed not only to tear the state government up by the roots, but of the various municipalities as well. By the simple expedient of changing the name of the Public Service Commission, the present membership of that body appointed for staggered terms so that it could never be changed into a political tool over night by any governor, will be yanked out of office. The governor will appoint a full commission of his own choosing for the regulation of the state's utilities. Another "ripper" would yank out the whole Municipal court of Philadelphia and allow the governor to appoint 25 or 30 political henchmen to take the places of regularly elected judges. Still another patronage incubator would rip out the complete board for the assessment and revision of taxes and provide more political rewards. Still other rippers would out the Philadelphia Park Board, revenue commission and other governmental agencies. The Democratic appetite for power and patronage seems insatiable. Who was it that asked "what's the Constitution between friends?" And who was it that said, "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

THE HEART OF "OURVILLE"

IT IS NOT the beauty of the mountains or the sea of lights in the valley that is the most touching beauty of Sierra Madre. It is the beauty of friendship. When joys come to us our friends' faces brighten with congratulation, as if they actually shared in our good fortune. When trouble comes their sympathy is not the sympathy of cities or of the busy world. It is the sympathy of neighbors who understand. When bereavement comes a friend sings in the little church with a beauty of sincerity and a depth of feeling which money cannot buy, and instead of hired pallbearers old friends carry your loved one to the grave... Bustling and progressive places cannot have the atmosphere we have here. The world must go on. The god of business must be served. I have lived in many places, but never in any other place so lovable.

Rev. Mr. Pritchard's request

Three or more points of view regarding the Supreme Court question were presented at Tuesday night's Forum. I found myself in the unhappy position of being in more or less agreement with all three. This is an unfortunate attitude, because it brands you as a mugwump in the eyes of both the "fur" and "agin" groups.

Now the question for every citizen to ponder and must answer, is, Shall I surrender all these advantages, for the sort of government enjoyed by Italy, Germany, or Russia? The answer is NO, and it may be written in blood.

Supervisor H. C. Legg announces he will appear before the state legislature to oppose a plan to increase salaries of Los Angeles county supervisors from $5,000 to $7,500 a year. Legg said he is against giving public officials the right to boost their own salaries while they are in office.

An offer to take delivery of all electric power to be produced at the Kennett hydroelectric plant of the Central Valley Project and assurances that his company will cooperate fully in the development of the great California water project was made this week by the president of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company.

T. H. McDonald, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads is the latest champion of divided highways, with center parkways separating opposing traffic as an aid to safer driving.

"Where the traffic is so heavy that two lanes will not carry it, there will be four-lane roads. But they will consist of two lanes on each side of a center parkway—there will be no chance to meet opposing traffic as there is in the present road with four contiguous lanes," he said.

San Gabriel Canyon entrance is being improved. The excellent state highway in the canyon will be more accessible upon completion.

The Cody, Wyoming, winter picnic will be held at Bixby Park, Long Beach, Sunday, February 28.

that we retain our Constitutional methods in whatever legislation is deemed necessary, is decidedly proper. Mr. Camp's comment on the rather obvious disadvantages of a 15-man Court can't be disputed reasonably. And Mr. Packard's concise statement of the need for a more modern attitude in interpretation of Constitutional questions on which there exists divergent approaches, is likewise acceptable to me.

In these basic thoughts I can see no discrepancies to interfere with adoption of some common denominator of action. The minor conflict involved, as to the President's complete justification for the present bill before Congress, seems to me to be unduly fired. Thus, a few folks find themselves unable to evaluate such discussion on the state of fact, but feel obliged to treat the matter from a completely partisan angle.

That's too much like buying a sack of assorted candies, and feeling compelled to stuff down the licorice out of loyalty to the peppermint drops.

THE ISSUE

To the Editor of the Sierra Madre News:

The wide-spread discussion of the President's proposal for the reorganization of the judiciary has clarified the issue, boiling it down to just one momentous question—Shall the Supreme Court be stripped of its constitutional powers and made a tool of the executive?

No one can doubt the purpose and ambition of the present Chief Executive. Already holding all executive and legislative authority by his undisputed control of Congress, he now would seize control of the judicial thereby making his personal authority supreme.

I submit that the American people retain enough of the spirit of their fathers to take whatever steps may be necessary to squelch the ambition of any person or group to establish a dictatorship in these United States. This is a government "of the people, for the people and by the people," and they are going to keep it so, regardless of New Deal, old deal, square deal or no deal.

This is a government in which the executive, legislative and judicial have equal and co-ordinate powers with all authority retained by the people.

This form of government has stood the test of 150 years, and proven itself the best ever devised by the mind of man. No other country on earth has made such remarkable progress in so short a time. In no other country on earth has there been such widespread distribution of the good things of life. In no other country, at no time in the world's history, has there been such a high standard of living as we in this country enjoy, and take as a matter of course. And among no other people in the world is there such a measure of personal liberty.

Now the question for every citizen to ponder and must answer, is, Shall I surrender all these advantages, for the sort of government enjoyed by Italy, Germany, or Russia? The answer is NO, and it may be written in blood.

ASKS CITY TO WAKE UP

To the Editor of the Sierra Madre News.

I had hoped to do some building of homes on that tract of land owned by me in your city bounded by Montecito avenue, Highland and Mountain Trail but in going into the matter further, I find that you city has an ordinance which prohibits certain types of buildings to comply with fire rules, etc. You folk up there with that initiative and referendum ordinance are standing in your own light. I cannot do any building until I circulate some petitions in your city and obtain a certain number of signatures, 10 per cent of those voting at the last election, which will then come before your body. All this burden has been thrown upon me when your city should have taken care of it.

The FHA has hesitated about loans in that vicinity on account of the unsightly condition of the poor homes or houses in that locality. Why doesn't your city endeavor to clear up that situation?

If I had been permitted to build 16 or more homes you can imagine the buying power of that number of families in your community—as to groceries, gas, oil, clothes, etc.

Wake up Sierra Madre, you are standing in your own light.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK H. JONES.

P.S.—Now why not start a lot clean up campaign in your city and remove some eye sores.

FEELS LIKE MUGWUMP

To the Editor of the Sierra Madre News.

Three or more points of view regarding the Supreme Court question were presented at Tuesday night's Forum. I found myself in the unhappy position of being in more or less agreement with all three. This is an unfortunate attitude, because it brands you as a mugwump in the eyes of both the "fur" and "agin" groups.

Now the question for every citizen to ponder and must answer, is, Shall I surrender all these advantages, for the sort of government enjoyed by Italy, Germany, or Russia? The answer is NO, and it may be written in blood.

Overflowing the auditorium, more than three hundred packed Bethany Church as the convention of the Associated Christian Youth was brought to a close Sunday evening.

With the paid registration soaring towards two hundred, these Christian Nipponese young people came mostly from Southern California, although the most distant city represented was Chicago. From Calexico and Riverside to Bakersfield and points in between, the boys and girls assembled to hear the stirring messages of eminent speakers including Rev. Roy L. Laurin, Dr. Frank Herron Smith, Rev. Stanley F. George, Rev. R. P. Schuler, Miss Ada May Visick, Rev. S. R. Sheriff, Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher and Rev. Irwin Moon.

Singing reached a new high as Ben Smith led the song services in the evenings and the delegates returned home singing "He Lives!"

Wistaria Town hospitality was again proven in the adequate manner in which delegates were housed for the weekend in the townfolk's homes. Most of the sessions were held in the several halls of Bethany Church, but the Saturday luncheon was eaten in the natural beauty of Bailey Canyon and the Sunday morning quiet hour and Bible study were held in the City Park House.

Sorrowing Friends
At Services For Elizabeth Shippey

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr Shippey, who died February 18 at her home in Del Mar, were conducted from Church of the Ascension Saturday afternoon.

Before sorrowing friends, who filled the flower-decked church, Dean Arnold G. Bode read the Episcopal burial service and spoke briefly of his friendship with Mrs. Shippey which, he said, dated from years ago in Long Beach where he was accustomed to see her delicately refined face and silvery white hair in the Church of St. Luke.

It was fitting, he said, that her friends should bid her farewell on her last visit to the church where she loved to be.

Evoking Mrs. Shippey's picture with the poet's lines, "Like a white candle in a holy place, so is the beauty of an aged face," he said hers was a beauty of the face that came from a heart of goodness shining through.

"She radiated kindness and happiness here, and we pray that she may go from strength to strength in a life of perfect service in the Heavenly Kingdom."

Mrs. Janet Wood, accompanied by T. R. Meader, sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me."

Interment followed in Sierra Madre cemetery.

IMPRESSIONS OF THE LADY OF THE LAKE AS SHE RODE IN THE ROSE TOURNAMENT

She Tells How A Girl Feels Riding Through A Lane Of More Than Million People

By Martha L. Sharp
Sierra Madre's Lady of the Lake

NEW YEAR'S EVE, 8:30 p.m. Even the chilly night fails to daunt the enthusiasm and whole hearted efforts of loyal Sierra Madreans . . . A huge bonfire blazing against the darkness.

In the midst of the busy workers the lovely "Lady of the Lake" float . . . Far into the night they labor and through the early morn . . . Finally, every flower in place, the job is finished and the Sierra Madre entry is on its way to join the 48th Annual Tournament of Roses parade.

"Lady of the Lake"
In Tournament Costume

New Year's morning in Pasadena and just in time for the official photographer . . . The sun filters caressingly through the trees, and you breathe a very thankful prayer that heaven must have built a special annex on our hearts this lovely day . . .

Starting time is near, and we are asked by one of the very pleasant motor patrol men to be ready . . . How do they keep such even tempered dispositions on parade day?

Moving into the line of march with shouts of good luck from our loyal followers . . . Suddenly everything is perfect—perfect as it shall never be again; the lovely homes along Orange Grove avenue, the flowers of every hue, the air so clear and the majestic mountains with their enigmatic changes of color . . .

Snow capped peaks in the background, and last, but certainly most important, the eager crowd—they like us, they applaud, they cheer.

Turning on Colorado boulevard, the battery of movie cameras . . . and how can so many people accumulate at Orange Grove and Colorado.

Moving along the boulevard, the crowds being efficiently handled by genial, but determined police . . . They like us more than ever. And it seems as though every spare window in the buildings is crowded with people, even to the roof.

Then, Tournament Park . . . we swing into our allotted space where all parade entries await later in the evening closer inspection . . . Though their reign is nearly over and their work is finished these beautiful manifestations of great imagination and much hard work will live forever in the spectators' thoughts.

The thrill of participating in the Tournament parade carries with it a deep sense of appreciation of all those who made it possible by contributing their artistic talents, their financial support, of the publicity crew and all the faithful workers.

Let me say a proud heart, proud of her city and it's people, beat with warm thumps beneath the plaid of the Douglas Clan of Scots on New Year's Day, 1937.

Plans for the annual Iowa winter picnic reunion to be held in Lincoln Park, Los Angeles, all day Saturday, February 27th, are on a more elaborate scale than ever before. If it is rainy that day or just before, the picnic will be postponed one week.

Ten acres of the park will be laid out just like the State of Iowa, with each county in its place. Seats will be provided for each county and a table with registers for enrollment and meeting of friends. Basket picnic dinners at noon will be followed by the program. A band of 50 pieces will play from 1 to 2 o'clock and the oratory and introductions will follow.

Former President Hoover, Governor Frank F. Merriam, Rush Butler, Harvey Ingham of the Des Moines Register; Joe Crail, Judge Charles C. Crail, Judge Fred W. Houser and all the past presidents of the Iowa Association will be the guests of honor and seated on the speaker's platform. Plans have been made to care for more than one hundred thousand.

OBITUARY

M. PAUL FREEBEY

The ashes of M. Paul Freebey, dean of Southern California linotype men, were privately interred at Rosedale Cemetery Monday. Death from bronchial pneumonia came to Freebey at California Lutheran Hospital on February 14.

Fellow newspaper employees acted as pallbearers, and on the casket they laid an orchid wreath as their tribute; the flowered design was a simple "30."

For 47 years Freebey worked in the composing room of the Los Angeles Times, having operated the first type setting machine installed in the plant.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. J. E. Freebey, with whom he lived in Los Angeles; five sisters, Grace Adele Freebey, Mrs. Nelle Francis, Harriet Freebey, Mrs. Florence Corti, and Mrs. Katherine Copeland of Sierra Madre; and a nephew, John Copeland of this city. Mr. Freebey was born in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, coming to Southern California as a boy. He was a member of the Masonic Order.

Danger Of Losing
Water Grant Grows
With PWA Ruling

Prospects of the Federal government footing a considerable part of the cost of the proposed pipe line between Sierra Madre and Santa Anita Canyon appeared dim this week, following the revelation that the PWA policy of granting 45 per cent of costs of relief grants is being abandoned. The government has announced henceforth it will contribute only to the extent of relief labor involved, amounting to about 15 per cent of the cost.

The disturbing news was announced by Councilman Baumgartner of Los Angeles, a Roosevelt elector at the November election, recently returned from Washington where he conferred with Federal officials.

City officials here were counting on a liberal donation from Washington to help finance the pipe line, which it will be necessary for Sierra Madre to build if the city is to retain a valuable water allocation in Santa Anita Canyon.

Great Camps
In Back Hills
To Open Soon

June Fixed For Occupancy
Of Huge Areas Just Above
Sierra Madre

With work in the hills along the trails leading out of Sierra Madre scheduled to start shortly at Charlton Flats on one of the largest and finest camp and picnic grounds in the Angeles Forest, it appears likely that the public will be using the Charlton Flats-Chilao area for recreational purposes by June 1, 1938.

Work is now well under way on the mile and one-half stretch of Angeles Crest Highway from Red Box immediately behind Sierra Madre eastward, which will link the present highway with that portion being constructed by the state prison camp five miles from Red Box. A third crew, a contracting company outfit, is making good progress on another section of the highway toward Chilao. As soon as weather permits the Charlton Flats development will go forward. Snows in the back country are melting fast, indicating the work will be possible within the near future.

Springing present plans both for the Angeles Crest extension and recreational developments from Red Box to the Louis Newcomb ranch at Chilao is the fact that more than 2,000,000 persons last year visited the Angeles Forest area, either to hike, picnic, occupy their cabins or camp for a while. This was an average of 40,000 persons for every week-end throughout the year.

A.L.A. Activities

BUSINESS transactions through the Schumann-Heink Memorial, took place at our last meeting. Various veterans' organizations are creating a fund to erect a suitable memorial near her home.

Pauline Ellison, department community service chairman, will speak at County Council March 5th at 1 o'clock in Patriotic Hall, Los Angeles. All Auxiliary members and friends are invited.

A good-luck farewell was extended Dorothy Shetler during the social hour. Planning to leave for Texas, her visit to the unit was reminiscent of the time spent in faithful performance of very heavy chairmanships for the organization which took much of her time. This has not been taken lightly, and we all wish for Dorothy a happy, more abundant life.

Opal Peterson was hostess and after an absence of several meetings many expressed their happiness at having her back with us.

Snakes Are Held Friend Of Mankind

Kiwanians saw snakes at their weekly luncheon-meeting Tuesday. The affair, however, was perfectly proper.

No figment of the imagination, the reptiles and lizards comprised the exhibit shown by Herpetologist Steven Edwards, who was guest speaker for the day.

Arranged in portable glass-windowed cages, Mr. Edwards' collection includes all of the better known varieties of reptiles which are found in California. All varieties of rattlesnakes are represented and all have their poison sacs intact. The exhibit issued for educational work in schools.

Putting in a kind word for snakes, Mr. Edwards defended rattlesnakes on the ground that they kill gophers, ground squirrels and other small burrowing pests, and said that gopher snakes and king snakes save approximately $8,000,000 annually in Southern California alone.

Dr. J. Andrew Hall, resident of the Philippine Islands for 37 years, was a guest of Dr. M. H. A. Peterson, club president.

It was announced Kiwanis Ladies Night will be held next Tuesday, March 2, at the Sierra Madre Woman's clubhouse.

RED CROSS MEETING DATES CHANGED

Fire Flames

By One of the Boys

"SPRING HAS COME" and with it the clean-up season. Much inflammable material has accumulated in the garages and basements during the winter. Old rags, especially oily ones, should be disposed of and that pile of newspapers can be used by the Salvation Army and other such organizations. The recent freeze has caused some varieties of vines to die and they are drying very fast. They are now fire hazards and should be disposed of.

The writer experienced the saving of a child's life. The very small child ran down the driveway from a service station to the street as his mother talked to the attendant. The brakes of the car ahead were applied, which fortunately were in good working condition and the car was stopped just in time to save both the mother and child, for she too had now run into the street. If the driver of the car had not been alert and had his eyes on the road, another casualty would have been added to the list without a doubt. Children do things like that and it is the duty of us all to watch out for them. Give the boy or girl on the bicycle plenty of room. No one can tell which way they may swerve.

This is meeting night and if the committee on by-laws has its report ready, we can look forward to a long session.

Week Is Set Aside For Planting

Governor Points Out Virtue Of Gardening—Local Observance Planned

Declaring "gardening possesses both vocational and avocational values" and that "through this medium good citizenship is promoted and civic pride and betterment are developed," Gov. Frank F. Merriam has proclaimed next week, March 1-7, as "Planting Week" throughout California.

Joining in the state-wide observance of the period, which climaxes with Arbor Day, March 7, the garden section of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club will hold an all-day meeting at Scenic Point on Wednesday, March 3.

The discussion will feature spring garden activities and the landscaping of West Sierra Madre Blvd. and the new West Carter avenue extension.

Members of the Esther Forman Garden Club will be present, and all garden-lovers are cordially invited. Coffee and tea will be served under the wistaria vine at noon.

The Governor's proclamation follows:

"In the course of human progress it is well for us to give indication of our faith in the future. It would seem that this could best be accomplished by utilizing the cooperative influence of nature. California is known throughout the world as the land of sunshine and flowers. The natural beauty of our State can be enhanced by planting seeds and bulbs of flowering plants, and setting out a wide variety of trees and shrubs. This is true because of the natural fertility of our soil, the conservation of our water supply and our ideal, varied climatic conditions.

"Gardening forms a sound and profitable pleasure. The efforts of the gardener are not only a source of great satisfaction to himself and those associated with him, but are of inspirational value to whomsoever may chance to see results of his efforts.

"Gardening possesses both vocational and avocational values. Through this medium good citizenship is promoted, civic pride and betterment are developed. It appears to be axiomatic that the garden lover is invariably a good citizen.

"In view of these sentiments and because March 7th is Arbor Day in this state, now, therefore, I, Frank F. Merriam, Governor of California, do hereby proclaim the week of March 1st to 7th, as 'Planting Week' within the limits of this commonwealth."

Woman's Club Notes

NEXT Wednesday, March 3rd, will be a banner day for the garden section of the Woman's Club. On this date, the garden division will go to Scenic Point, where appropriate ceremonies will take place in the planting of "Memory Garden," under the Wistaria vine.

It is expected that the contribution of Mrs. Alice Bruggman and her daughters, Mrs. Vega Roberts and Mrs. Emily Childs, will have arrived, and will be the first set in the ground. Each plant will be individually marked at this ceremony, and will later be replaced by bronze markers. It will be remembered that Mrs. Bruggman, who planted the vine itself, and her family offered a group of Jacaranda trees.

Thursday, March 4th, Lucia Trent Cheyney, and her capable husband Ralph Cheyney, are again bringing a delightful character to the poetry section. Elizabeth Schermerhorn will be presented to this section, and it is hoped many will attend and enjoy the reading of original poems by this young person.

Members and guests who attended Wednesday's regular meeting commented favorably on the book review and current event discussion presented by Mrs. Edward A. Tufts. Her review of current books on history, namely "Catherine de Medici and the Lost Revolution" by George Slocombe, and "The Hundred Years" by Philip Guedalla, were particularly well presented. Fiction books discussed by Mrs. Tufts, were "The Street of the Fishing Cat" by John Folds; "The Sound of Running Feet," by Josephine Lawrence, and "The Late George Apley," by John P. Marquand.

On March 24, our reciprocity luncheon will be held at the Wistaria Vine. Fifty invitations are being extended to nearby clubs, and clubs whose invitations we have accepted for similar affairs. A Japanese lady, well versed in the traditions of flower arrangement, will be the guest speaker, and will also tell at length the origin of wistarias, in the Orient.

Alyce Anderson.

BARN DANCE TONIGHT AT WOMAN'S CLUB

A Barn Dance, sponsored by the Woman's Club for the WPA, Los Angeles county department of recreation, will be held at the Woman's Club this evening. There will be a cowboy orchestra, and all guests are asked to appear in costume. The affair, which is free, is open to the public.

Interesting Tales Of Local Trails In New Magazine

Stories of Big Santa Anita, Mount Wilson and the trails over the mountains from Sierra Madre are featured in the 1937 Winter Number of Trails Magazine, issued by the County Recreation department, now on sale on the local newstand.

Arthur N. Carter, who came here at the age of 13 in 1882, writes of "Mt. Wilson and Sturtevant Trails from Sierra Madre," discussing "Trails Into the Back Country," "The First Observatory," "First Resort on Mount Wilson," "Rules of the Trail," "The Original Sturtevant Trail," "Santa Anita Canyon Resorts," and "The Hermit of Santa Anita."

Walter Schneider of Pasadena, who with his brothers George and William, hiked these trails from 1889, tells the story of "Henniger Flat and the Half-Way House."

The magazine also contains an account of Rev. E. P. Rankin's attempt to climb Monrovia Peak on January 22, 1920. Two pages of trail trips to nearby resorts and camps provide valuable information for hikers.

City And Vine Inspire A Poem Book

Charm Of Scenic Point And Its Great Wistaria Bring Forth Another Volume

Sierra Madre is the chief inspiration of another book. Moreover, Sierra Madre's famous Wistaria vine now has been introduced into the abiding annals of American literature. Washington's Birthday will be hereafter a day of double celebration for two Sierra Madre authors.

On that patriotic day suitable enough Suttonhouse, Inc., accepted for immediate publication "Thank You, America!" by Lucia Trent and Ralph Cheyney. This is the leading literary book publication house of the Pacific Coast, headquartered in Los Angeles but nationwide in scope and stature.

"Scenic Point, Sierra Madre, California," will appear beneath the title of the poem of this book. It was first conceived under Sierra Madre's wistaria vine and was written by both the Cheyneys in the unique collaboration they introduced into literature.

After this joint poem the book is divided into sections, one by each of these authors. The section by Lucia Trent is introduced by a foreword by the Poet Laureate of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Angela Morgan. Prof. William Ellery Leonard, eminent world scholar and poet, introduces the poems by Ralph Cheyney. Breaking their usual rule not to read their own material at the Poetry Teas at the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, this poem will be read at the next of these gatherings.

Next Thursday, March fourth, at 2 o'clock, will be the date of the next get-together at the club house of readers and writers of verse and prose for the review and discussion and criticism of current books and also of new work by members. A special treat is promised in the reading of her creations by the very charming and young Elizabeth Schermerhorn, of Arcadia, 'cellist, newly one of the editors of "Horizons," and author. The reading last month by Frances Smith Johnson, of Altadena, was so keenly enjoyed that many are eagerly anticipating this next treat in the series.

Modernly Dressed Woven To Be Fined At Church Meeting

The Women's Society of the Congregational church will meet at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, at the church for a day of sewing for the Children's Home Plaza Community Center of Sierra Madre. This will be a "Hard Time" party, and all ladies are expected to come dressed in old clothes; fines will be imposed upon those who do not dress appropriately for the occasion.

The executive board will meet at 1 o'clock and the regular monthly business meeting will be held at 2 o'clock. After this a kitchen shower will be held for the church kitchen, gifts to be received by the "Kitchen Queen." A program will follow. Everyone is to bring their own lunches and tea will be served. An invitation is extended to all women of the community.

Father Sage says:
Honesty is the best policy, but a lot of people refuse to accept it as a working principle.

New Building Program To Continue

Two more important construction permits were issued this week by City Building Inspector William Lees.

A residence for Merrill Miller of Los Angeles will be built at Orange and Canyon Crest Drives. A permit to remodel a store building at 87 West Sierra Madre Blvd., has been taken out by P. Knishen.

Predicting renewed home construction with the signing of the amendment to the National Housing Act which extends government guaranteed FHA debentures, F. W. Marlow, Southern California district director of the FHA, declared the amendment means "the continued free flow of mortgage money necessary to avert an acute housing shortage. Without this extension, construction of homes would have been seriously retarded perhaps for years. Private capital will now be encouraged to continue its participation in the FHA's program with increased activity."

GABLE-MacDONALD AT UPTOWN THEATRE

Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald and Spencer Tracy in "San Francisco" and Gene Raymond and Ann Sothern in "The Smartest Girl in Town" are billed today and tomorrow at the Pasadena Uptown Theatre.

Starting Sunday is the first return showing in Pasadena of "Three Smart Girls," starring Deanna Durbin and featuring Binnie Barnes and Alice Brady. "Make Way for a Lady," with Herbert Marshall and Anne Shirley, is the additional feature. "You Can't Get Away with It," portraying the inside activities of Uncle Sam's crime-busting department which is headed by J. Edgar Hoover, is also programmed.

Girls Forget Their Bathing Suits When Sun Shines

Whether settling basin or swimmer hole is the best tag for it is a question now troubling water department officials.

Checking over the No. 1 settling basin on East Grand View avenue Monday, officials were greeted by the slightly unusual sight of seven girls, all between the ages of 7 and 11, splashing happily in the water—in their birthday suits! Their clothes were neatly piled up on the top of the dyke.

The girls were politely but firmly persuaded to remember that they were young ladies—even if it was a balmy spring day.

DEAN BODE HOLDS MISSION IN VENTURA

Dean Bode returned Wednesday from Ventura, where he has been holding a mission in the St. Paul's Episcopal church. The Ventura Rector, Dean Reginald Hammond, will visit the Church of the Ascension here on the evening of Sunday, March 7, and will also hold a teaching mission for several evenings. This is part of a series of exchanges going on this Lent in the Episcopal churches of Southern California.

get along without the Supreme Court?" "Where is our protection," he asked, "if once we let the wedge enter?"

"Remember this," the colonel affirmed, "it CAN happen here!"

F. D. R. Moore, well-known attorney, referred to a letter written by Attorney-General Homer Cummings to a Federal judge complimenting the Federal judiciary on its rapid handling of cases in recent years. He then quoted numerous Democratic senators who are opposed to the President's court reorganization plan, among them Sens. Champ Clark, Burton Wheeler and Royal D. Copeland.

Mrs. C. A. Allen pointed out Mr. Roosevelt, in his pre-election platform, promised the nation a "clarifying amendment" should the present issue arise.

"Mr. Roosevelt has repudiated his most solemn promise," she declared.

Answering the charge of Mrs.

Roosevelt that the group opposing her husband was "the upper middle class which is afraid of losing something material," Mrs. Allen said:

"No, Mrs. Roosevelt; it isn't 'something material.' It is an ideal and a vision of freedom people have cherished for centuries."

Mrs. W. J. Barlow asserted that 15,000 women in Baltimore are rallying against any attempt to tamper with the Supreme Court.

"There is no politics in this controversy; it is a matter of fundamental Americanism," Assemblyman Frank G. Martin stated. In his opinion, he said, Mr. Roosevelt's proposal assumes the Supreme Court to be a group of children, if not imbeciles.

A burst of applause greeted his question: Has Congress any more right to tamper with the Supreme Court than the Court with Congress?

The Assemblyman complimented the "American spirit" of the meeting, and urged Sierra Madreans "to deluge Congress with petitions."

Nominated by J. S. Billheimer, W. S. Hull was voted secretary pro-tem of the meeting.

Mrs. Mae Ostrom, 81 Vista Circle Drive, is visiting friends in San Diego this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Giles and daughter of San Francisco are spending the week in Sierra Madre. They are stopping at the Hotel Sierra Madre.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Johnstone, Jr., and children, 79 East Highland avenue, visited the zoo at Exposition Park, San Diego, on Sunday.

Mrs. C. W. Davis and Mrs. H. W. Hoag of San Diego, are spending this week at the Hotel Sierra Madre and attending the Santa Anita races.

Mrs. Charles Cuddy, 658 Orange Drive, reported to police she was bitten on the calf of her leg by a Chihuahua dog belonging to E. Kesler, 730 Orange Drive, Thursday.

Mrs. Sarah M. Butler, 387 Ramona avenue, is enjoying a couple of days visit from her nephew, William C. Gonder, who is here from Baltimore.

Mrs. James McIntyre of Fort Collins, Colorado, arrived Friday for a visit of several weeks in the home of her brother, W. J. Schiltz, 67 East Highland avenue.

BUSINESS transactions through, discussion concerning the Schumann-Heink Memorial, took place at our last meeting. Various veterans' organizations are creating a fund to erect a suitable memorial near her home.

Pauline Ellison, department community service chairman, will speak at County Council March 5th at 1 o'clock in Patriotic Hall, Los Angeles. All Auxiliary members and friends are invited.

A good-luck farewell was extended Dorothy Shetter during the social hour. Planning to leave for Texas, her visit to the unit was reminiscent of the time spent in faithful performance of very heavy chairmanships for the organization which took much of her time. This has not been taken lightly, and we all wish for Dorothy a happy, more abundant life.

Snakes Are Held Friend Of Mankind

Kiwanians saw snakes at their weekly luncheon-meeting Tuesday. The affair, however, was perfectly proper.

No figment of the imagination, the reptiles and lizards comprised the exhibit shown by Herpetologist Steven Edwards, who was guest speaker for the day.

Arranged in portable glass-windowed cages, Mr. Edwards' collection includes all of the better known varieties of reptiles which are found in California. All varieties of rattlesnakes are represented and all have their poison sacs intact. The exhibit issued for educational work in schools.

Putting in a kind word for snakes, Mr. Edwards defended rattlesnakes on the ground that they kill gophers, ground squirrels and other small burrowing pests, and said that gopher snakes and king snakes save approximately $8,000,000 annually in Southern California alone.

Dr. J. Andrew Hall, resident of the Philippine Islands for 37 years, was a guest of Dr. M. H. A. Peterson, club president.

It was announced Kiwanis Ladies Night will be held next Tuesday, March 2, at the Sierra Madre Woman's clubhouse.

Fire Flames

By One of the Boys

"SPRING HAS COME" and with it the clean-up season. Much inflammable material has accumulated in the garages and basements during the winter. Old rags, especially oily ones, should be disposed of and that pile of newspapers can be used by the Salvation Army and other such organizations. The recent freeze has caused some varieties of vines to die and they are drying very fast. They are now fire hazards and should be disposed of.

The writer experienced the saving of a child's life. The very small child ran down the driveway from a service station to the street as his mother talked with the attendant. The brakes of the car ahead were applied, which fortunately were in good working condition and the car was stopped just in time to save both the mother and child, for she too had now run into the street. If the driver of the car had not been alert, and had his eyes on the road, another casualty would have been added to the list without a doubt. Children do things like that and it is the duty of us all to watch out for them. Give the boy or girl on the bicycle plenty of room. No one can tell which way they may swerve.

This is meeting night and if the committee on by-laws has its report ready, we can look forward to a long session.

Woman's Club Notes

NEXT Wednesday, March 3rd, will be a banner day for the garden section of the Women's Club. On this date, the garden division will go to Scenic Point, where appropriate ceremonies will take place in the planting of "Memory Garden," under the Wistaria vine.

It is expected that the contribution of Mrs. Alice Brugman and her daughters, Mrs. Vega Roberts and Mrs. Emily Childs, will have arrived, and will be the first set in the ground. Each plant will be individually marked at this ceremony, and will later be replaced by bronze markers. It will be remembered that Mrs. Brugman, who planted the vine itself, and her family offered a group of Jacaranda trees.

Thursday, March 4th, Lucia Trent Cheyney, and her capable husband Ralph Cheyney, are again bringing a delightful character to the poetry section. Elizabeth Schermerhorn will be presented to this section, and it is hoped many will attend and enjoy the reading of original poems by this young person.

Members and guests who attended Wednesday's regular meeting commented favorably on the book review and current event discussion presented by Mrs. Edward A. Tufts. Her review of current books on history, namely "Catherine de Medici and the Lost Revolution" by George Slocombe, and "The Hundred Years" by Philip Guedalla, were particularly well presented. Fiction books discussed by Mrs. Tufts, were "The Street of the Fishing Cat" by John Foides, "The Sound of Running Feet," by Josephine Lawrence, and "The Late George Apley," by John P. Marquand.

On March 24, our reciprocity luncheon will be held at the Wistaria Vine. Fifty invitations are being extended to nearby clubs, and clubs whose invitations we have accepted for similar affairs. A Japanese lady, well versed in the traditions of flower arrangement, will be the guest speaker, and will also tell at length the origin of wistarias, in the Orient.

Alyce Anderson.

BARN DANCE TONIGHT AT WOMAN'S CLUB

A Barn Dance, sponsored by the Woman's Club for the WPA, Los Angeles county department of recreation, will be held at the Woman's Club this evening. There will be a cowboy orchestra, and all guests are asked to appear in costume. The affair, which is free, is open to the public.

Interesting Tales Of Local Trails In New Magazine

Stories of Big Santa Anita, Mount Wilson and the trails over the mountains from Sierra Madre are featured in the 1937 Winter Number of Trails Magazine, issued by the County Recreation department, now on sale on the local newstand.

Arthur N. Carter, who came here at the age of 13 in 1882, writes of "Mt. Wilson and Sturtevant Trails from Sierra Madre," discussing "Trails Into the Back Country," "The First Observatory," "First Resort on Mount Wilson," "Rules of the Trail," "The Original Sturtevant Trail," "Santa Anita Canyon Resorts" and "The Hermit of Santa Anita."

Walter Schneider of Pasadena, who with his brothers George and William, hiked these trails from 1889, tells the story of "Henniger Flat and the Half-Way House."

The magazine also contains an account of Rev. E. P. Rankin's attempt to climb Monrovia Peak on January 22, 1920. Two pages of trail trips to nearby resorts and camps provide valuable information for hikers.

Week Is Set Aside For Planting

Governor Points Out Virtue Of Gardening—Local Observance Planned

Declaring "gardening possesses both vocational and avocational values" and that "through this medium good citizenship is promoted and civic pride and betterment are developed," Gov. Frank F. Merriam has proclaimed next week, March 1-7, as "Planting Week" throughout California.

Joining in the state-wide observance of the period, which climaxes with Arbor Day, March 7, the garden section of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club will hold an all-day meeting at Scenic Point on Wednesday, March 3.

The discussion will feature spring garden activities and the landscaping of West Sierra Madre Blvd. and the new West Carter avenue extension.

Members of the Esther Forman Garden Club will be present, and all garden-lovers are cordially invited. Coffee and tea will be served under the wistaria vine at noon.

The Governor's proclamation

"In the course of human progress it is well for us to give indication of our faith in the future. It would seem that this could best be accomplished by utilizing the cooperative influence of nature. California is known throughout the world as the land of sunshine and flowers. The natural beauty of our State can be enhanced by planting seeds and bulbs of flowering plants, and setting out a wide variety of trees and shrubs. This is true because of the natural fertility of our soil, the conservation of our water supply and our ideal, varied climatic conditions.

"Gardening forms a sound and profitable pleasure. The efforts of the gardener are not only a source of great satisfaction to himself and those associated with him, but are of inspirational value to whomsoever may chance to see results of his efforts.

"Gardening possesses both vocational and avocational values. Through this medium good citizenship is promoted, civic pride and betterment are developed. It appears to be axiomatic that the garden lover is invariably a good citizen.

"In view of these sentiments and because March 7th is Ar-

Meeting To Advise Growers On Losses Due To Freeze

A series of meetings will be held throughout Los Angeles county during the first week in March to which all citrus and avocado growers are invited. They are sponsored by the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau for a discussion of special treatment of injured trees and general soil management program for orchards following the occurrence of freeze injury.

The nearest meetings to Sierra Madre are: Tuesday, March 2, at 2:00 p.m., Citrus Union High School, Glendora-Azusa; and Thursday, March 4, 7:30 p.m., Bonita High School, San Dimas-La Verne.

WISCONSIN TO PICNIC

The annual winter picnic reunion of the Wisconsin people has been postponed on account of rain to Wednesday, March 3rd, when it will be held all day in Sycamore Grove Park.

Arbor Day in this state, now, therefore, I, Frank F. Merriam, Governor of California, do hereby proclaim the week of March 1st to 7th, as "Planting Week" within the limits of this commonwealth.

Danger Of Losing Water Grant Grows With PWA Ruling

Prospects of the Federal government footing a considerable part of the cost of the proposed pipe line between Sierra Madre and Santa Anita Canyon appeared dim this week, following the revelation that the PWA policy of granting 45 per cent of costs of relief grants is being abandoned. The government has announced henceforth it will contribute only to the extent of relief labor involved, amounting to about 15 per cent of the cost.

The disturbing news was announced by Councilman Baumgartner of Los Angeles, a Roosevelt elector at the November election, recently returned from Washington where he conferred with Federal officials.

City officials here were counting on a liberal donation from Washington to help finance the pipe line, which it will be necessary for Sierra Madre to build if the city is to retain a valuable water allocation in Santa Anita Canyon.

Great Camps In Back Hills To Open Soon

June Fixed For Occupancy Of Huge Areas Just Above Sierra Madre

With work in the hills along the trails leading out of Sierra Madre scheduled to start shortly at Charlton Flats on one of the largest and finest camp and picnic grounds in the Angeles Forest, it appears likely that the public will be using the Charlton Flats-Chilao area for recreational purposes by June 1, 1938.

Work is now well under way on the mile and one-half stretch of Angeles Crest Highway from Red Box immediately behind Sierra Madre eastward, which will link the present highway with that portion being constructed by the state prison camp five miles from Red Box. A third crew, a contracting company outfit, is making good progress on another section of the highway toward Chilao.

As soon as weather permits the Charlton Flats development will go forward. Snows in the back country are melting fast, indicating the work will be possible within the near future.

Spurring present plans both for the Angeles Crest extension and recreational developments from Red Box to the Louis Newcomb ranch at Chilao is the fact that more than 2,000,000 persons last year visited the Angeles Forest area, either to hike, picnic, occupy their cabins or camp for a while. This was an average of 40,000 persons for every week-end throughout the year.

FIRST AID CLASSES BEGIN NEW SERIES

Opening session of this year's first aid classes, sponsored as usual by the local chapter of the American Red Cross, will be held at 7:30 p.m., March 11, at the city hall. It was announced yesterday, James C. Harper will again act as instructor.

The schedule of classes may be obtained either from Joe Swanson at the city hall or from Red Cross headquarters, corner of Baldwin avenue and Sierra Madre boulevard.

Girls Forget Their Bathing Suits When Sun Shines

Whether settling basin or swimmin' hole is the best tag for it is a question now troubling water department officials.

Checking over the No. 1 settling basin on East Grand View avenue Monday, officials were greeted by the slightly unusual sight of seven girls, all between the ages of 7 and 11, splashing happily in the water—in their birthday suits! Their clothes were neatly piled up on the top of the dyke.

The girls were politely but firmly persuaded to remember that they were young ladies—even if it was a balmy spring day.
